VINIFICATION	Regular visits to the vineyard occurred as the fruit approached full ripeness ensuring we harvested at optimal flavour, sugar and acid balance. The fruit is harvested early in the morning when it is at its coolest. The juice is then gently separated from the skins, clarified and slowly fermented with careful temperature control. The fermenting juice is tasted daily, and when the acidity, alcohol and sweetness are in balance the fermentation is stopped.
CELLARING	Drink now while the fresh fruit flavours dominate.
